Figuring Things Out

‘Whatever you say, say nothing’ was a piece of wisdom the Irish poet Seamus Heaney learned from his mother. But that advice doesn’t make for writing poetry and the son had to shelve its claim on him. Heaney reflected on his relationship with his father, a farmer close to the land, a quiet man who had reason to believe that language was a kind of betrayal. In his writing Heaney tries to figure out his father whose inwardness and reserve are a constant challenge to a son who wants to fathom him and get close to him. As he writes in his poem, Follower:

I wanted to grow up and plough,
To close one eye, stiffen my arm.
All I ever did was follow
In his broad shadow round the farm.

I was a nuisance, tripping, falling,
Yapping always. But today
It is my father who keeps stumbling
Behind me, and will not go away.

The son starts out trying to follow in his father’s footsteps but he discovers later that their skills are different: the son’s new produce is poems, not potatoes. There doesn’t appear to be much common ground there; but even though their skills divide them, their roots keep them attached. Perhaps it is true to say that no matter how close people may be, everyone still has a lot of figuring out to do!

New Pilgrim Path Website of the Week

Dr Barry White, consultant haematologist and Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians of Ireland, pioneered the teaching of Christian meditation to healthcare professionals in Ireland. "Meditation and Health" is an inspiring video of a talk given by Dr White at the annual John Main seminar, "A Hunger for Depth and Meaning". Access this, and other rich online spiritual resources, on www.NewPilgrimPath.ie.

Thank you

Thank you to everyone who helped in the preparations for the World Meeting of Families. Particular thanks to Michael Hodgins and his back room team who provided us with information regarding the event from the beginning updating us each month. We draw your attention to the notice board which now displays some lovely photos of the events at the RDS, Croke Park and the Mass on Sunday in the Phoenix Park.

Brothers, Fr Padraig & Fr Michael Gleeson, Th at the Phoenix Park.
