New Pilgrim Path

“Sacred Space” is among the top most-visited prayer websites in the world. It attracts 18,000 visitors a day. The site guides the visitor through a session of prayer, in six stages, including preparing your body and mind, and culminating in reflection on a scripture passage chosen especially for the day. This is a wonderful use of the Internet... www.newpilgrimpath.ie

A Miracle of Generosity

The miracle of the multiplication of the loaves is a miracle of generosity. First of all there is the marvellous generosity of the boy, who, with his gift of five loaves and two fish, made the miracle possible. It was a small thing in itself, but for the little boy it was a big thing because it was all he had. There are many who are willing to make a contribution out of the relative plenty that they have, but very few are willing to give when it means going without themselves.

Then there is the astonishing generosity of Jesus. Not only did he feed all the people, but also he saw to it that each got as much as he wanted, and even so there were twelve full baskets of leftovers.

Though the miracle harked back to the miracle of manna in the desert it also looked towards the future. It pointed to another and infinitely more important kind of bread that Jesus would give - the bread that endures to eternal life, the bread he came down from heaven to give us.

The early Christians also saw in this feeding an anticipation of the Eucharist. The gestures and words used are the exact same ones that are used in describing the institution of the Eucharist at the last supper: 'He took the bread...blessed it...broke it...and gave it to them.' the Eucharist in turn anticipates the final banquet of the kingdom. The Lord nourishes us here in the Eucharistic banquet as surely and as generously as he fed the people in the desert. He nourishes us so that we in our turn may be able to nourish others.
