God's Attitude to Sinners

In the welcome the ‘Prodigal Son’ got, Jesus shows us God’s attitude to repentant sinners. If we are sinners - and which of us is not? - then God loves us not less but more. It doesn’t do us much good to be loved for being perfect. We need to be accepted and loved precisely as sinners.

The attitude of the older brother towards the younger brother is a mirror image of the attitude of the Pharisees to sinners. They would rather see a sinner damned than saved. Yet they were very religious people. But what’s the use of religion if it doesn’t make a person more compassionate towards those who fall? If we find ourselves sympathising with the older brother, it just shows how much of the Pharisee is in us.

All of us, to a greater or lesser extent, are in the shoes of the younger son. For which of us can say that we have always been faithful? Do we not all squander God’s grace and misuse his gifts? Which of us would like to be treated by God according to strict justice? Do we not all need more mercy than justice.

It is in and through our sins that we experience the goodness and mercy of God. If we never sinned, we’d never know God’s forgiveness. This is not an excuse for sinning. But it’s nice to know that this is how God receives sinners. Saints bear witness to God’s grace and fidelity. Sinners bear witness to God’s love and mercy.
