Standing Firm in a Changing World

As we near the end of the Church's liturgical year, we are reminded that the world around us is constantly changing. The readings this Sunday speak of endings and beginnings - of challenges that shake our sense of security, yet also of the enduring hope that comes from God's promise. It is easy to become anxious when familiar things fall away, but faith calls us to look beyond what is passing and to trust in what is eternal.

God invites us not to live in fear or idleness but to remain faithful and steadfast in our daily lives. Even in times of uncertainty, we are called to keep working for what is good - to bring kindness, justice, and compassion into our homes, workplaces, and communities. Our perseverance in love, no matter how small the act, becomes a quiet witness to God's presence in the world.

When we feel unsettled by change or burdened by worry, we can remember that God's love is our true foundation. His word endures when everything else fades. Let us hold fast to that truth and find courage to keep going, confident that God's plan is unfolding, and that all things will be made new in His time.

May we stand firm in faith, hope, and love.
